

CaveSim Field Trip and/or Custom Program Liability Release Form

The CaveSim mobile cave is a crawl-through cave simulator with video game-type scoring. The purpose of the cave simulator is to teach participants about natural cave environments. Our mobile cave contains 60 feet of cave passage that participants crawl and climb through while trying to avoid artificial cave formations (stalactites, stalagmites). Each cave formation contains electronic sensors networked to a computer. Participants look at computer screens after exploring the cave to see what they "damaged" in the cave. We also facilitate cave-related games and activities with cave equipment, such as rescue gear.
